NOBLEMEN.

The noblest men I know on earth,
Are men whose hands are brown with toil;
Who, backed by no ancestral graves,
Hew down the woods and till the soil,
And win thereby a prouder fame
Than follows king or warrior's name.

The working men, whate'er their task,
To carve the stone or bear the hod—
They wear upon their honest brows
The royal stamp and seal of God?
And brighter are the drops of sweat
Than diamonds in a coronet!

God bless the noble working men,
Who rear the cities of the plain,
Who dig the mines and build the ships,
And drive the commerce on the main,
God bless them! for their swarthy hands
Have wrought the glory of our lands.

Fairy Story for Little Ones.

Prince Procrastination was always about to seek his fortune, but then he was long in starting. So at last his fairy godmother said to him:

"I have planted a rose in the garden. It will bear only one bud. If you pick this bud before it is fairly opened, you will find in it a dewdrop. But this dewdrop will never melt, and is as hard as steel. In fact, it is a fairy mirror, and, if you will look in it, you will see three chances for winning your fortune."

The Prince who was very anxious about his fortune, thanked his godmother warmly, and did little else but watch the rose till it budded. Just before the bud had opened, he plucked it, and found in it the dewdrop, as hard as steel; and looking in this curious mirror, he saw a castle; and over the gate of this castle hung a banner; and on the banner was written: "Who grasps me first shall lead the king's armies."

"This is easily done," said the Prince; "but where is this castle?" again he saw the word "Mansonia."

"Where can Mansonia be?" thought the Prince. "I must buy an atlas. I will go to town to-day and buy one."

But that day it happened that the Prince had a headache. So he said:

"I will go the next day."

So the next day he went; but just as he was going into the book store, he saw a man with some tiny white puppies. So he said: "I will go and look at the puppies, and stop for the atlas on my way back." But when he got back to the book-store, they had just sold the last atlas.

"Never mind," said the man, "we will send for a new lot."

So they sent for a new lot and as soon as they arrived, the Prince found the country of Mansonia, and started off to find the banner. He had been so long however, that I am sorry to say that, just as he reached the tower he saw another Prince helping himself to the banner.

"Confound it!" cried the Prince in a rage, "this comes of having atlases! That book seller ought to be hanged! Never mind. I have two more chances."

So he looked in the dewdrop mirror again, and this time he saw a pear hanging in his own garden.

"Pick that pear," was written in the glass, "as soon as it is ripe, and you shall be wise."

"This is a better gift than the other," thought the Prince, and every day he used to go and look at the pear, and wonder how it would taste, and why it could make him wise, till it had grown so full and rich that there could no longer be any doubt of its ripeness. Then he brought out a ladder, and prepared to climb the tree; but just as he was going up he saw a bee fighting with a spider. He was so curious to learn what they were fighting about, that he went to watch them.

When he came back he met his little brother coming down the ladder.

"Oh, Pro! you ought to go up and eat some of those pears. I got a splendid one."

"Splendid one! which one?" shouted the Prince.

"Why, the one at the very top—the big one! Never tasted such a one in my life!"

"I wish it had choked you," answered the Prince in a fury; this comes of having a younger brother.—However, I have one more chance left."

So he looked in the mirror again, and this time he saw only a line of writing, and this is what it said:

"Catch the third fish from the sea,
And you may lucky be."

"Well, there is no such hurry about this, anyhow," thought the Prince,—"I can catch three fishes any time. However, I will go to-morrow."

But to-morrow the Prince's cousin came to see him; and on the next day he sprained his ankle; and on the third day he was reading a book. Then he found that he had no net.—Then he forgot to send to town for a net. When he did send, it came home late at night, and the next day it rained. But the next day he went to the sea shore, and met a man just coming away, with a wonderful fish that looked as if made of gold and diamonds.

"Where did you get that?" asked the Prince.

"Why," answered the man, "every morning three fish, like this, used to come up on the beach, and, at last, I thought I would catch one." Two of them got away, but this third one I caught."

Then the Prince knew that he had lost his third chance, and he was very angry.

"This comes," he said, of "having cousins, and sprained ankles, and wet days, and meddlesome men. They all should be hung!" And went home in a rage.—New York Mercury.

Sing Away Your Grief.

Henry Ward Beecher gives the following excellent advice:

We can sing away our cares easier than we can reason them away. The birds are the earliest to sing in the morning; the birds are more without care than anything else I know of.—Sing in the evening. Singing is the last thing the robins do. When they have done their daily work—when they have flown their last flight, and picked up their last morsel of food, and cleansed their bills on a napkin of a bough, and on a top twig, they sing one song of praise. I know they sleep sweeter for it. They dream music; for sometimes in the night they break forth in singing, and stop suddenly after the first note, startled by their own voice. O, that we might sing evening and morning, and let song touch song all the way through. As I was returning from the country the other evening between 6 and 7 o'clock, bearing a basket of flowers, I met a man that was apparently the tender of a mason. He looked brick and mortal all over! He had worked the entire day, and he had the appearance of a man that would not be afraid of work. He was walking on with a light step, and singing to himself as he passed down the street, though he had been working the whole day, and nearly the whole week. Were it not that my good thoughts always come too late, I should have given him a large allotment of my flowers. If he had not been out of sight when the idea occurred to me, I should have hailed him, and said, "Have you worked all day?" "Of course I have" he would have said. "Are you singing?" "Of course I am." "Then take the flowers home and give them to your wife, and tell her what a blessing she has in you."

O, that we could put songs under our burdens! O, that we could extract the sense of sorrow by song! Then these things would not poison so much. Sing in the house. Teach your children to sing. When troubles come, go at them with songs. When griefs arise, sing them down. Lift the voice of praise against cares. Praise God by singing; that will lift you above trials of every sort. Attempt it. They sing in heaven; and among God's people upon earth, song is the appropriate language of Christian feeling.

WANTED—AN HONEST, INDUSTRIOUS BOY.—We lately saw an advertisement headed as above. It conveys to every boy an impressive moral lesson.

"An honest, industrious boy" is always wanted. He will be sought for; his services will be in demand; he will be spoken of in terms of high commendation; he will always have a home; he will grow up to be a man of known worth and established character.

He will be wanted. The merchant will want him for salesman or clerk; the master mechanic will want him for apprentice or journeyman; those with a job to let will want him for a contractor; patients will want him for a doctor; religious congregations, for a pastor; parents, for a teacher of their children; and the people, for an officer.

He will be wanted. Townsmen will want him for a citizen, acquaintances as a neighbor, neighbors as a friend, families as a visitor, the world as an acquaintance; nay, girls will want him for a beau, and, finally, for a husband.

"An honest, industrious boy!" Just think of it, boys; will you answer this description? Are you sure that you will be wanted? You may be smart and active, but that does not fill the requisition—are you honest? You may be capable—are you industrious? You may be well dressed, and create a favorable impression at first sight; are you sure your friends, teachers and acquaintances can recommend you for these qualities?

How would you feel, your character not being thus established, on hearing the words: "I can't employ you?"

Nothing else will make up for these qualities. No readiness, no aptness for business will do. You must be honest and industrious—must work and labor. Will you calling and election for places of profit and trust be made sure?

HOW THE PARSON GOT EXCITED.—A few years since, near the city of F——, in Connecticut, lived and preached old Parson P., who was excitable and nearsighted. One day he had been in the city with his horse, and among his purchases was a barrel of flour, the head of which was partially out.

On the way home the old man was overtaken and passed by a fast young man, driving a horse and putting on much airs. Now, the parson's horse was usually a quiet, steady going animal enough, but he couldn't stand that sort of thing; so he started after him of the first order, in good earnest.

The jolting of the wagon at length jarred the head completely off the barrel, and the strong wind that was blowing directly after the parson, blew the flour all over him and the horse. At last the fast young man was left, and the village reached; but the speed of his horse was not checked.

In driving through a street to reach his home, he came in contact with one of his deacons, who was naturally surprised to see his minister driving at such a pace, and signaled him to stop.

"Why Parson P——," said he, "what on earth is the matter? You seem greatly excited."

"Excited!" yelled the old man, "excited! Who in h—l wouldn't be excited? Snow storm in July. Get up, Dobbin."

☞Never carry a sword in your tongue to wound the reputation of any man.

Letter from Thaddeus Stevens.

The following letter from Hon. Thad Stevens to one of the Pennsylvania delegates to the Chicago Convention sufficiently explains itself:

WASHINGTON, March 26, 1868.

My Dear Sir:—I received your letter of the 24th inst., this morning, and am glad you intend to be at Chicago personally. If your constituents and mine have indicated a preference for Vice President, as I rather think they have, from their vote, I should deem it your duty, as a matter of personal fidelity, to begin by voting for that person, whether he is a friend of mine or not. No man seems to me justified in violating the wishes of his constituents to please any other person, but if the person thus indicated as their first choice should fail of a probability of election, or gradually decline, then, if I were there, or my wishes were to be consulted, I should use all my efforts in favor of B. F. Wade. He is a true man, in whom you and I and every radical man can confide, and you will find that the country, as well as our particular friends, will profit by his success. I wish you would show this letter to your colleagues. I shall be kept from the Convention, but desire to see an honest man placed in that position of great contingent responsibility. As to the candidate for the Presidency, I presume you all agree that none other than Gen. Grant is to be thought of. Honest, firm, and well-indoctrinated in principle, without ostentation and without pride, I do not well see how a better selection can be made. His judgment of men is so sound that I have full faith that he will call around him the ablest and purest men of the nation. With Grant and Wade to guide and defend us, this nation, in four years, will have acquired a prosperity which will be the wonder of the world. Universal freedom maintained by universal suffrage, on this continent, cannot fail to have that effect. Very respectfully,

THADDEUS STEVENS.

To R. J. HOUSTON, Esq., Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

GENERAL GRANT AND TEMPERANCE.—The following is from the New York Sun. Mr. Dana, the editor, was with Gen. Grant, in the field, nearly two years, and knows whereof he writes:

"Gen. Grant has been accused of intemperance. The Democrats fight him with talk about his alleged bad habit, just as the rebels fought him with powder and ball in war; but the case is set right in a little speech which the Hon. W. E. Dodge made on Thursday evening. Mr. Dodge said that he had just been in Washington, and had a long interview with Gen. Grant, and, continued he, "I left him with the conviction that neither we nor the friends of temperance have any cause for anxiety in this respect." Mr. Dodge is President of the National Temperance Society, and no one can be more hostile to everything approaching intemperate habits in a public man. The truth is that the practice of Gen. Grant is total abstinence. In camp he—almost alone, among all the prominent officers of the army—never tolerated liquor or wine either at his table or about his tent. Fatiguing marches and the excitement and exhaustion of battles did not make him break over his rule, not to touch or take anything alcoholic. Again and again we have seen wine offered him at public and private dinners, only to be steadily refused. We are assured that now in time of peace, and in the society of Washington, he still maintains the same custom. His enemies must invent some other story. The people will never believe that General Grant is a drunkard; and if, from not personally knowing Grant, they are not sure of the facts, thew will answer as President Lincoln did, "Let me know what kind of whisky Grant drinks, and I will send a barrel to every one of our generals.'"

NOT SO BAD AS HE THOUGHT.—The following story is told of a gallant naval officer:—Twenty or thirty years ago, when missionary enterprise was in its infancy among the islands of the South sea, Captain Summers anchored his sloop of-war off one of the Marquesas. The next morning, he saw an American flag on the beach, Union down. This excited him fearfully, of course, and he sent off a boat at once to inquire into the matter.—Presently the boat returned, bringing with it a grave looking missionary.—The Captain's anxiety ran high. He said:

"What's the trouble out there, quick?"

"Well, I am grieved to say, sir," said the missionary, "that the natives have been interrupting our sacerdotal exercises."

"No! Blast their yaller hides! I'll—what—what was it you said they had been doing?"

"It pains me, sir, to say they have been interrupting our sacerdotal exercises."

"Interrupting your—your—h—ll!—Man them starboard guns! Stand by, now, to give 'em the whole battery!"

The astonished clergyman hastened to protest against such excessively rigorous measures, and finally succeeded in making the old tar understand that the natives had only been guilty of breaking up a prayer meeting.

"Oh, devil take it, man," said the Captain, "is that all? I thought you meant that they'd stopped your grog!"

☞"You lost your leg in the army, you say. What did you gain by it?" asked a gentleman of a prisoner.

"Single blessedness, sir," he replied, "for after that no woman would marry me."

GENERAL NEWS.

Our exchanges say that the fields of winter wheat present a promising appearance. The past winter has been a favorable one for crops of this character, the heavy and continued snow entirely protecting them from the frost.

Early Thursday morning a destructive fire occurred on Main and Pine streets, in the Eighth Ward, Allegheny City, (formerly Duquesne Borough,) by which nine dwellings and a large bark house were totally destroyed, and nine families rendered houseless.

Every Japanese girl, of no matter what class in society, appears inspired with an innate love of coquetry, and in many other respects they differ but little from American girls. The daughter of the humblest tradesman loves to pass whole days in shopping.

Fish spawn, it appears, can be transported without injury by mail. Recently a package of one hundred trout eggs, packed in moss, and enclosed in tin, was sent from Mumford, New York, to Bellows Falls, Vermont, and on being opened, but one dead egg was found in the lot.

The publisher of the Delaware Express has recently recovered at law thirteen years' subscription and costs from a subscriber who pleaded the statute of limitations, which she claimed barred the claim for all exceeding six years. The judge held that it was a continuing contract.

The latest fashion in ear-rings in Paris is little globules of rock-crystal, filled with water and miniature sea fishes and molluscs. Another suggestion is to make ear-drops of gold cages, with brilliantly colored birds within—size and weight not taken into consideration, so long as the fashion holds.

Senator Hendricks, of Indiana, stated in Congress, on Saturday, that at present the expense of each soldier in the army was $2,000, and nearly $2,000,000, for each regiment; the total cost being about $100,000,000 a year for an army of 50,000 men. The Senator urged that, with proper management, the army expense could be cut down forty millions a year, and in this matter the tax payers are deeply interested, and should urge rigid economy.

Latterly, dogs have disappeared in Antwerp, Belgium, in a mysterious manner. The disappearances grew so numerous that special efforts were made to elucidate the mystery, and the result was the apprehension of two persons who confess that during one year they stole no less than two hundred dogs, the skins of which sold to toy-makers, went for the manufacture of drums; the grease made excellent pomade, and the carcasses passed through the sausage-making machines.

The Legislature of Ohio, wherein the Democrats have a majority, it is understood will continue in session until after the question of impeachment is settled, in order that the majority may control the appointment to the vacancy created by the advancement of Senator Wade. This is an important matter—the possession of an office for nine months—and it must not be supposed that a great national party like the Democratic will shirk the responsibility. To permit the Governor to fill the vacancy would be to promote directly the interests of the Radicals, and that they have pledged themselves not to do.

From the report of the proceedings of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, we learn that the order now numbers 215 lodges, with 22,405 members in this State, and that the Grand Lodge numbers 2,000 members. During the past ten years, the Masonic fraternity in Pennsylvania has doubled its strength, and it is now in a most flourishing condition, the Grand Master in office being the Hon. Richard Vaux, who is said to be one of the most capable and efficient directors of its affairs that the Masonic body in this State has had for many years. The assets of the Grand Lodge are valued at $601,012, and the new temple, about to be constructed on Broad street, is to be built at an estimated cost of $750,000.

☞A down East paper relates that when the fleet of Massachusetts fishing vessels were on the Banks last spring, one of the vessels broke adrift and came rapidly down towards another. Collision appeared inevitable, and certain death to all on board would surely follow. The captain of the drifting craft shouted, "Cut away, and I'll pay for the cable and anchor!" In the midst of the excitement and danger, and just as the captain was about to comply with the order, one of the crew cried out, "Don't do it, captain, unless he'll give it to you in writing!" The captain was so struck that he waited a moment in order to comprehend the matter, and just then the schooner went by without striking. The very idea of alluding to pen and ink, under such circumstances, exhibited a degree of coolness most remarkable, and the captain and all hands enjoyed a hearty laugh over it, although just escaped from the jaws of death.

☞"I have nothing but my heart to give you," said a spinister to a lawyer who had conducted a suit for her. "Well," said the lawyer gruffly, "go to my clerk—he takes the fees."

☞"Whatever made you marry that old woman?" said a mother to her son. "Because you always told me to pick a wife like my mother," was the dutiful reply.

WM. LEWIS, HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

OUR CANDIDATES:

FOR PRESIDENT,

U. S. GRANT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

A. G. CURTIN.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,

COL. JACOB M. CAMPBELL,

OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.

☞The inquiry is made what punishment will President Johnson receive if he is convicted by the Senate. His only punishment, according to the Constitution, will be removal from office.

☞The gold, silver and bronze medals which were awarded to the United States exhibitors at the Paris exhibition, have arrived, and have been sent to Washington where they will be exhibited a short time, and then distributed to the owners.

☞The Massachusetts Homœopathic Medical Society held a meeting in Boston on the 8th inst., in which the admission of Mrs. Mercy B. Jackson as a practicing female physician in Boston was discussed. The admission was refused by a vote of 33 against 31.

☞Rumor has it that "Gen. Grant will not accept a nomination on a platform favoring negro voting." Our conviction is that the Republican party, after the recent reverses in Ohio and Michigan, will not bother itself about making him father any such platform.

☞Word has at last been received from Africa that Dr. Livingston is still alive, and this time there can be no mistake, since the information comes from the intrepid traveler himself, in the shape of a letter to Sir Roderick Murchison. The doctor writes that he is in good health, that his expedition has been completely successful and that he expects to return to England at an early day.

☞Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines, widow of the late Gen. Gaines, after lawsuits running over thirty years to sustain her claims, finally succeeded in gaining her case in the Supreme Court of the United States. The decision places her in possession of property in New Orleans, mainly real estate, valued at twenty millions of dollars. Mrs. G. who is about sixty-five years of age, is now the richest woman in America.

☞Some dozen or more of the Republican press of the State, with Simon Cameron's organ at Harrisburg at the lead, are making a desperate effort to defeat Andy Curtin for Vice President. The same party of men who elected Cameron U. S. Senator over Curtin in opposition to the will of the large majority of the party, are again determined to defeat the most popular man with the people in the State.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.—The statement of the public debt up to April 1st, has just been published. The total account of debt bearing coin interest is $1,944,440,841; bearing currency interest, $281,766,630; matured debt not presented for payment, $9,036,383; debt bearing no interest, $406,475,476; total debt, $2,641,719,332; amount in treasury, coin $99,279,617; currency, $23,230,027; total $122,509,645; amount of debt less cash in treasury, $2,519,209,687.

☞The United States Senate has acted wisely in passing a bill providing that the expression of opinion founded on public rumors or statements in public journals, shall not disqualify a juror, otherwise competent, who shall take an oath that he can give a verdict according to the evidence. Intelligent men cannot abstain from reading the papers; but they can take an oath and give an impartial verdict as readily as one who does not read the papers.

IMPEACHMENT.—On Thursday last the defense was opened by Judge Curtis in a long argument which was continued the second day. The information we receive from Washington as to public opinion there on the impeachment question, is contradictory. The friends of the President say there has not been evidence offered to convict him—while his opponents say conviction is certain. We wait the result patiently as we would any other uncertainty.

☞It is an undeniable fact that many parents desire to give their children a good education, and many instances are recorded, and daily transpiring, wherein this has been a reason for removal from one location to another, where the advantages in this respect are superior. It is very important that this fact should be pondered by the residents of our town and county at this time, and it should have its influence in leading them to contribute liberally of their means in behalf of the Normal School which is to be located in our midst.

☞Gov. Geary has approved the bill repealing the liquor law of 1867.

☞The Ku-Klux-Klan, it appears, is an organization of more dreadful earnest than curiosity. It is a rebel society, and if not checked by the powers that be it will prove as death-dealing and destructive to our Nation's interests as the rebel army in the late rebellion. The Union men in the South are marked by the members of this organization, and when a favorable opportunity offers, they vent their spleen upon them, and murder them. Recently, the residence of Hon. G. W. Ashburn, in Columbus, Ga., was surrounded by about thirty persons, the doors broke open, and he murdered in his room. All the assassins wore masks, and they were all said to be members of the Ku-Klux-Klan. Placards have been posted up at the doors of Union men in the city, containing their mystic letters and signs, with skulls, coffins, skeletons, cross-bones, deadly weapons, and written sentences breathing out most terrible threatenings against them. Such proceedings as these are designed to throw the community into a fretful state, which can only be removed by ferreting out the authors of this new affliction and making them pay the penalty.

☞The Harrisburg Telegraph has run up to its mast-head the name of Benj. F. Wade for Vice President. We believe the Republican State Convention by a very large majority declared for Andy Curtin for Vice President. It don't look well for a Republican organ at the Capitol of the State to bolt a Republican nomination, especially when the nominee is the strongest man in the party. Perhaps the publisher of the Telegraph is sure President Johnson will be turned out in a few weeks and Mr. Wade turned in, when the Harrisburg Post Office would be in the market, and at the disposal of Mr. Wade. Once in, and General Grant elected, the surroundings would be able to keep the publisher in a fat situation. If President Johnson should not be turned out, the editor of the Telegraph could not be rewarded by Mr. Wade for playing traitor to the almost unanimous voice of the Republican party of this State.

NEW GAME LAW.—The new Game law, which will be passed, we presume, this session, makes it unlawful to shoot, kill, trap, or destroy any blue-bird, swallow, marten, or other insectivorous bird, at any season of the year. Deer, fawn, or elk are only to be hunted or killed during the months of September, October and November; wild turkeys, pheasants, or rabbits, from September 1 to January 1; partridges or quails from the 20th of October to the 20th of December; woodcock or snipe from the 1st of September to the 1st of March. No birds to be trapped or taken by means of nets, or any other method than by shooting, and no eggs to be destroyed. Penalty, a fine not exceeding $25 for each offence, with costs, and imprisonment not exceeding thirty days. The bill is a general one throughout the State.

☞Michigan held an election on Monday a week on a new Constitution just framed for that State. It contained a clause authorizing negroes to vote, and on this account, mainly was defeated by some 20,000 majority, many of the Republicans, as well as all the Democrats, voting against it. The question of liquor prohibition was also submitted to a vote and defeated. The question of negro suffrage is therefore decisively negatived in that State. It is better that the question should have come up then than at the Presidential election, as it would have materially lessened the handsome Republican majority that State is wont to give.

THE CONNECTICUT ELECTION.—The returns of the recent election in Connecticut for Governor, give English (Dem.,) 49,666; Jewell, (Rep.,) 48,095; a majority for the Democratic Governor of 1,571. Both branches of the Legislature are Republican. The Senate stands 12 Republicans to 9 Democrats; last year it stood 11 Republicans to 8 Democrats. The House stands 130 Republicans to 108 Democrats. Majority on joint ballot, 25. This secures the election of a Republican U. S. Senator in place of Dixon. In 1864 Connecticut gave Lincoln 2,405 majority, and there are no fears that it will go all right for Grant.

☞The Pennsylvania Senate on the 4th inst., passed the act to incorporate the Fort Loudon railroad company. The road to run from Mt. Union, this county, through Burnt Cabins, London and Mercersburg, to a point on Cumberland Valley railroad.

—The Legislature of our State recently passed a bill authorizing and directing the Recorders of Deeds in the several counties of this Commonwealth to record the discharges of all honorably discharged officers and soldiers.—This will enable soldiers to avoid that trouble which so frequently results from the loss of discharge papers.

—The bankrupt law has now been in operation about nine months, and during that period there have been filed in New York two thousand petitions; in Massachusetts, eight hundred and twenty-five; and in Pennsylvania, over one thousand two hundred.

—The Pennsylvania Legislature has passed a law for the preservation of fish in the streams throughout the State, and to the systematic stocking of the waters, and the propagation of fish in them.

Our Legislature adjourns sine die today, Tuesday.

Who Shall be the Republican Candidate for Vice President?

The New York Sun reviews the list of Republican candidates for the Vice Presidency, and the prospect of the several gentlemen named for the nomination. New England brings forward Gov. Buckingham, Senator Wilson, Governor Banks, Governor Harriman, and ex-Vice President Hamlin. The Middle States present Governor Fenton, Governor Curtin, and Senator Cresswell. The West brings out Senator Wade, Speaker Colfax, and Senator Pomeroy. The Pacific slope presents Senator Colo, Gov. Low, and Senators Nye, Corbett, and Williams. Others of lesser note have also been suggested. The Sun remarks that "as General Grant's home is on the banks of the Mississippi, the presumption is strong that the second candidate will be located east of the Alleghenies; unless, indeed, the Pacific States, because of their remote position, should claim that, viewed from their stand point, Grant is not a Western man." Its opinion is that did not Wade and Colfax "reside in such close proximity to the principal candidate they would present irresistible claims on the nomination." As it is, however, should Mr. Wade become President for the residue of Mr. Johnson's term, the circumstance would greatly strengthen his chances. "If the candidate is selected this side of the mountains," says the Sun, "the list narrows down to Gov. Curtin, Gov. Fenton, Governor Buckingham, Senator Wilson, and Vice President Hamlin." Of Ex-Gov. Curtin the Sun speaks as follows:

Gov. Curtin is the regular nominee of the party in Pennsylvania. He is a gentleman of high attainments, and popular with the volunteers, because of his active exertions in their behalf during the war; but he encounters a good deal of hostility from rivals in his own State. Gov. Fenton has the delegates from New York. He is an indefatigable organizer and a shrewd tactician, but the opposition to him in some quarters is strenuous and has recently shown itself in a marked manner in the Legislature at Albany. Gov. Buckingham is popular in Connecticut, and is a gentleman of great purity of character. Though his State is small, yet, should it go for the Republicans in the pending election, his name would have a good deal of weight at Chicago.

The Sun concludes its discussion of the candidates as follows:

Senator Wilson received the party nomination in the Massachusetts Convention. He is a man of great vigor, a successful organizer, has made his mark in the Senate, has a national reputation, stands well with the Republicans of the South, among whom he made an extensive tour last year, and should he be able to combine at the outset all the New England votes in the Convention, would be very likely to receive the nomination. The friends of Mr. Hamlin are numerous throughout the Union. Formerly a leader of the Democracy, he resigned his seat in the Senate when the party undertook to force slavery upon the people of Kansas. He was immediately elected Governor of Maine by about 30,000 majority, carring with him a large section of the Democracy. In 1864, he made way for the nomination of Mr. Johnson as Vice President. Mr. Lincoln, just previous to his assassination, appointed him Collector of the Port of Boston. He subsequently resigned this lucrative office because he did not concur in the reconstruction policy of Mr. Johnson. Of fixed opinions, stern integrity, superior talents, and unflinching courage, his name is quietly but widely urged by Republicans who think it would be no more than a just reparation for the error of setting him aside four years ago, to now place him on the ticket with General Grant.

Unwise Local Legislation.

The greatest mistake any party ever made was to legislate a rival out of power. The Democracy were in the habit of doing this, but they never gained anything permanent by it. They were always injured by the retaliation which followed, to a greater extent than any actual substantial benefit which they derived from it. Ohio is a living example of this fact on a grand scale. That State was once ruled by the Democracy, who, not satisfied with sufficient majorities in the Legislature thereof, for all practical purposes, went to work to gerrymander it that they might elect all Democrats to Congress, and actually monopolize all seats in the Legislature. The result of this action was to disgust the people; to turn them from the Democratic party, and for years make a radical State of what had been Democratic Ohio. In a less degree, the attempt to legislate Democratic cities into Republican cities, will be followed by the same results. All such schemes are the off-springs of corrupt men, who merely use a dominant party in the Legislature to advance their pecuniary interests; who seek political power, not that they aim at the triumph of great political principles, but that they want to centre in themselves the control of localities. The masses have no sympathy with such men. When the Democratic leaders sought thus to use the people the honest portion of the voters abandoned that party and made the Republican organization strong. The same result will attend the same kind of chicanery if the Republican party is debased for the same purposes. The mass of men will not permit themselves to be used in any mere scheming of cliques grasping for power. Legislation, which is a trick on its face, to force one party out of authority and another in will provoke its retalliation. The ruling power of the United States cannot be permanently lodged in any class or clique of men. If it could, we would soon cease to be free, and have an aristocracy here more arrogant than that which tramples on the rights and robs the labor of the masses of the Old World.—Harrisburg State Guard.

—The number of soldiers' orphans in Soldiers' Schools in this State is 3,180; the cost of these schools for the year ending December 1, 1867, was $435,080 44. Each pupil costs the State $148 84 per annum.

—The order of Good Templars, during the past year, has increased in membership about two hundred thousand, numbering now in North America nearly half a million.

☞The Chambersburg Repository concludes an able article on "The Policy of Unity," as follows:

Gov. Curtin may or may not be nominated at Chicago, and he may or may not be defeated by adverse elements in his own household. Whatever nomination is made at Chicago, there are not less than 200,000 earnest Republicans in this State who will feel, if he is defeated, that the voice and wishes of the party were overthrown by a factious minority, who use nominations to gain power themselves, but are ready to disregard nominations when their ambition is not gratified. Gov. Curtin can well afford not to be nominated for Vice President, but can the Republicans of Pennsylvania afford to disregard with impunity, or defeat by factious warfare, a nomination made with such unanimity and responded to with such enthusiosm? When Gen. Cameron was nominated for U. S. Senator over Gov. Curtin, even in the face of an opposition that was destructive of most of the men who made the nomination in caucus, Gov. Curtin acquiesced because the usages of the party demanded it at his hands. So when Gov. Geary was nominated, after a little contest, he had, from the day of his nomination, the most cordial support of the minority. Now some of the leaders, who were victors in those contests, reject the binding force of a nomination and insist that Pennsylvania shall simply give doubtful compliments to her public men for national offices, but never support them successfully. We submit that the policy of unity has been heretofore made one of the established usages of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, and that the time has come when we must join the Republicans of New York, Indiana and other leading States, in enforcing it if we would deserve to be a successful party. We cannot destroy the sanctity of one kind of nominations, and demand obedience to another class made by the same tribunal, and those who are now endeavoring to sow to the wind would do well to look to the harvest they are likely to gather.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

WASHINGTON, April 9, 1868.

The Court commenced at the usual hour, and after some further evidence was offered by the managers,

Mr. Curtis commenced the opening argument for the defense. Alluding to the character of the trial, and to the oath taken by the Senators in their capacity of judges, he said the only appeal he should make would be to the conscience and the reason of each and every judge, basing his argument solely on questions of law and fact.—He intimated that he would subsequently combat the position taken by the Managers, that this body was not essentially, and in fact, a court; but at present, he would consider the articles separately, and in their order and substance.

The gravity of the charges of the first eight articles was that the removal of Mr. Stanton was, and was intended to be, in violation of the tenure of office act and the Constitution. He then argued to show that the case of Stanton did not come within the scope and provisions of the tenure of office act, maintaining that the description of his office and its tenure differed materially in the section and in its previso. Mr. Stanton was appointed by President Lincoln in 1862, to hold office during the term for which he was elected, and not to hold it during any subsequent term for which he might be elected.

It could not be said that Johnson is serving out the term of Lincoln. The term for which a President is elected is not absolutely for four years, but is limited by life and ability. His conditional term expiring, the Vice President succeeds to a new term, which consists of the remainder of the term for which the Vice President was elected. As well might it be said that one Sovereign served out the term of another whom he succeeded. There was a purpose in the difference of the phraseology betwen the section and its proviso.

The Constitution authorizes the President to call upon members of his Cabinet for advice respecting matters concerning his own duties, as well as respecting matters connected with their various departments, and such had been the invariable practice since the foundation of the Government.—They were the voice and hands of the President. In them he was to repose confidence, and for them he was to be responsible. For this reason they were placed by the tenure of office law in the same position as the President by whom they were appointed—they were to serve out his term of office: but as to others holding over, the case was different.

Mr. Curtis then proceeded to show what the feeling and intention of both Houses of Congress was in the framing and passage of this bill, maintaining that they were in accord with the views he had just expressed. He quoted from speeches explaining the report of the committee of conference made by Mr. Schenck. Also from speeches of Gen. Sherman, Mr. Williams and others, in the Senate, in which they denied that either the purpose or effect of the bill was to keep Mr. Stanton in office.

He read these, not as expressions of individual opinion, but in explanation of the report of the committee of conference.

Returning to the consideration of the articles, he said the sixth section forbids any removal contrary to the provision of the act, but as Stanton did not yield there was no removal, and if there had been it would not have violated the act, since he had just shown that Stanton did not come within its provisions.

The House of Representatives charge the President with an intentional violation of this section, which unquestionably admits of different construction, but they fail to prove that he concurred in their interpretation, and then willfully acted in contravention of it. The first duty of the President is to construe an act and decide what is its true meaning. This duty he performed as the Constitution provided, by consulting with his constitutional advisers, and they all put the same construction upon the act in question, as had been assigned to it by its framers.

An Impartial View of the Impeachment.

We annex from the Washington correspondence of the New York Times, a statement of the position of the case as it stands at the close of the Managers' testimony. It is the more worthy of consideration since the journal in which we find it does not editorially declare itself partizan, and has been in fact, during the progress of the trial, as prompt to censure the Republican party, as any journal, not avowedly Democratic, which has come under our notice. The writer states the case, in its present position, as follows:

"The case as made by the prosecution, though not developing much that is new, is yet conceded to substantiate all the specific charges of the articles, except the ninth, so far as oral and record evidence can do it.—The chief questions are, after all, the questions of law, and after all that the prosecution claim is admitted by the defense, there still remains the original theory set up by Mr. Johnson, that having done all these things, he has nevertheless violated no law. As to the evidence, it can safely be said that the following points are fully proven, namely: that the President first suspended Mr. Stanton under the Tenure of Office act; that he recognized that act by conforming to it in repeated instances; that he absolutely removed Mr. Stanton during the session of the Senate, without its consent, in violation of the act of 1789; that he appointed Gen. Thomas Secretary of War ad interim in violation of the act of 1867: that Gen. Thomas, acting upon the order of the President, did attempt to take possession of the War Office, and was only prevented from using force in so doing by the intervention of Mr. Stanton's legal proceedings; that he did attempt to exercise the functions of the office, in giving orders and signing himself Secretary of War ad interim; that the speeches made upon the Chicago trip were actually made as reported, whatever shade of misdemeanor they may establish; and that the President, in dealing with the Senate, has steadily maintained that he did not recognize the Tenure of Office act, while in dealing with appointments and removals under it, he has uniformly respected its provisions except in this one instance of the last removal of the Secretary of War. Whether the Tenure of Office has been violated depends upon a law question, as to whether the act covers Mr. Stanton's case. If it does, the prosecution will have no trouble in proving its violation, as they have already proved that for certain purposes the President conceded it to be valid law, while for others he did not. On this point, the most elaborate arguments will be made, and it will be one which the Senators will find it most difficult to decide, as some of them are on record heretofore to the effect that the law did not touch Mr. Stanton's case. It will be a very close vote, if at all, that a verdict of guilty is rendered on this article.

One of the points which it is understood the defense will attempt to prove and which they will maintain with all their ability, is that in all, these acts the President intended no violation of the law. They all maintain the well known principle of common law, that to prove a crime the intent must be fully shown. But against this the prosecution will set up the well established fact that in the last removal of Mr. Stanton he did actually violate a law, on the ground, as he maintains in his answer, that it is no law, having nevertheless repeatedly recognized its validity by performing various actions under it. The matter of intent, therefore, the Managers claim is fully established. The charges of the ninth and tenth articles are among those on which, if on any, a verdict of not guilty will be rendered.

A Registry Law.

The Legislature has passed, and the Governor signed, a supplement to our election laws, requiring the registration of voters throughout the State. This is a much needed measure, and calculated to accomplish a great deal of good in the way of preventing frauds at elections. The following is a synopsis of the most important features of the bill:

SECTION 1.—That the assessors shall make lists of voters annually, with their residence, whether housekeepers or boarders; the occupation and name of employer, if working for another; whether native citizen voting on age, naturalized, or having declared intentions, expecting to vote upon full papers to be procured before election.

During the present year such a list to be made out sixty days after the passage of the act; qualifications to be then inquired into before the 1st of September; meetings for rectification and placing additional names on the registry, to be held by the assessors during the four days, if necessary, and ten days before the election.

SEC. 2.—Duplicate copies of the registry lists to be made out; one copy to go to the County Commissioners, the other to be posted on the door of the house where the election is to be held prior to August 1st in each year.

SEC. 3.—Assessors, inspectors and judges of election to attend at places for holding elections on Saturday, the 10th day preceding the second Tuesday of October, to place names on the registry not thereon, upon due proof of the right of the voter. At the election no person to be allowed to vote whose name is not on the list. Where a person has been omitted he may request a special meeting of the officers to decide on his case; and all such claims may be heard at the election house on the Saturday before the election.

SEC. 4.—Voters may be challenged and put to proof, notwithstanding the fact that their names are on the registry, and the matter be decided according to law. Naturalized voters must produce their certificates of naturalization, the elected officers to place the word "voted," with date and place of election.

SEC. 5.—Registry papers to be sealed up after the election with other election papers.

SEC. 6.—Registry to be reopened in years when there are Presidential elections ten days before the election, and names of voters omitted to be placed thereon.

SEC. 7.—At special elections the registry to govern, but not to exclude citizens not registered who have the right to vote according to law.

SEC 8 prescribes the oath of office for assessors, inspectors and judges of elections.

SEC. 9.—On the petition of five or more citizens, under oath, setting forth reasons for believing that frauds will be practised at an election, the Court of Common Pleas may appoint two persons as overseers of elections, one from each political party, if the inspectors belong to different political parties; but where these officers are both of the same party, the overseers are to be of the opposite party. The overseers to have a right to be present at the election and to see what is done, keep lists of voters, &c. If said overseers are not allowed to perform their duties, or are driven away by intimidation, the whole pole of that election district or division to be thrown out.

SEC. 10.—If a district polls more votes than are registered, it shall be prima facie evidence of fraud, and the whole vote may be rejected upon a contested election.

SEC. 11.—No court of the State to naturalize any foreigner within ten days of an election, under penalty of misdemeanor in the officer issuing the naturalization certificate. Voting, or attempting to vote, on a fraudulent certificate of naturalization, subjects the party to imprisonment not exceeding three years, and fine not exceeding one thousand dollars.

SEC. 12.—Issuing false receipts by a tax collector, fine not less than one hundred dollars, imprisonment not less than three months.

SEC. 13.—At elections hereafter polls to open between 6 and 7 o'clock, a. m., and close at 6 p. m.

Another excellent bill is pending before the State Senate, which if passed, as it assuredly ought, will prove a most valuable and acceptable adjunct to the Registry law. This bill proposes to compel officers of elections to register the names of naturalized voters, with such facts connected with their naturalization as will prevent fraud.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, April 15, 1868.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

Brief Items.

—Court is proceeding with the business.

—A new stock of spectacles just received at Lewis' Book Store.

—Butter—the use of the article almost forgotten.

—Our merchants have been piling in lots of new goods—see advertisements.

—We have seen fewer cases of spring fever this year than we have for many years.

—A new Democratic paper to be called the Altoona Vindicator is to be established at Altoona.

—Mr. Henry Ripple, of Mt. Union, had his pocket book picked of $35 the other night.

—The persons to buy from are those who advertise—see advertisements in the GLOBE.

—For the greatest variety of new styles of Wall Paper, go to Lewis' Book Store. tf.

—The saw mill of Mr. Peter Shaver, of Hill valley, was recently destroyed by fire.

—The little ones and some bigger ones too will be pleased to learn that Uncle Sam has taken the tax off candy

—A new stock of prime Sugar Cured Hams and Dried Beef, at Lewis' Family Grocery.

—With gold in your pocket, silver in your tongue, and brass on your face, success is certain, undertake what you will.

—The weather of the past few weeks has been emphatically winterish, and the wonder is if we are going to have any spring at all.

—The largest and most handsome stock of new styles of Wall Paper ever received in Huntingdon, for sale at Lewis' Book Store. Call and see.

—A little child of Mr. Wilson McCartney, of Dublin township, had its thigh fractured by a barn door blowing down on it.

—Blue bird bands will give matin concerts with accompaniments during every morning this season. Secure your seats early.

—Those who profess to remember the occurrence, say that this is the year for the return of the seventeen year locusts.

—Welcome home—J. Simpson African and family. Mr. A. is not only a useful, but also a good citizen. He will be located at his old home on Hill street.

—The theatrical piece Black Crook which has attracted thousands, is now being played in Johnstown by a traveling company. May it never crook its way here.

—Superior Goods in the Watch, Jewelry and Silver line.—Adv. in this issue, by Henry Harper. His stock is large, and purchasers will do well to give him a call.

—The west end of the Juniata county jail wall was so dilapidated that it fell down without any blowing. The authorities are now at work propping up the northern wall.

—During a high wind one day last week, an unfinished house in West Huntingdon, belonging to Mr. Cavender, was blown out of shape. The house has since been repaired.

—A little daughter of Joseph Somers, of Freedom Forge, Mifflin county, was badly burnt recently by her clothes catching fire from burning brush.

—Mrs. McGirk, an aged widow lady of Ferguson valley, Mifflin county, died very suddenly one day last week. She was at the door talking to a neighbor, when she suddenly fell, and was almost instantly a corpse.

—The largest stock, and largest number of new and beautiful styles of Wall Paper ever received in Huntingdon can be seen at Lewis' Book Store. All in want of Wall Paper and Window Shades should go and examine his stock. tf.

—A farmer was recently arrested in Johnstown for the mere act of testing his strength by lifting a cask of merchandise in front of a drug store in that place. He had to pay $7.50 costs. This is the smallest piece of authority we have heard being practiced for some time.

—Rev. Dr. Gerhart, of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., has accepted the professorship in the Theological Seminary at Mercersburg, to which he was elected by the Synod at its late meeting at Harrisburg, and will enter upon his duties without delay.

—Physiologists after patient and close inquiry have arrived at the conclusion that the power of the entire man, his vitality, is as much expended by two hours of deep mental effort as by a whole day of ordinary bodily labor. Who shouldn't pity editors?

—What would our readers think if one of our ministers should open services in the pulpit by reading at length a full report of the prices current of flour, butter, meat, lard, etc., and the cost of clothing, shoes, etc? And yet the papers state that a minister in Fulton, Ill., did this very thing, and no doubt accomplished what he intended, for the congregation responded with a liberal donation.

—The Cambria Freeman says:—Mr. John O. Jones, a farmer residing in Cambria township, a short distance from this place, recently lost no less than eight valuable cows by death within a period of two weeks. We learned nothing as to the probable cause of the mortality, but it is said that the animals first became blind, and then frothed at the mouth and manifested other symptoms of a hydrophobial character.

Its Good Effects are Permanent.

In this it differs from all hair dyes. By its use luxuriant growth is guaranteed, natural color and gloss are restored. One trial will cause you to say this of Mrs. S. A. Allen's Improved (new style) Hair Restorer or Dressing, (in one bottle.) Every Druggist sells it. Price One Dollar. 1m.

Present Status of the Washington & Buffalo Railroad.

At length our citizens are permitted to begin the work preparatory to opening up a direct, short, cheap and rapid intercommunication between the National Capitol—the Southern Atlantic sea board States, the interior counties of Pennsylvania and the States and provinces adjacent to the great Lakes.

During the past week, the Legislature of Pennsylvania passed two acts of Assembly, under either of which the proposed connections may be made.

First, an act to incorporate the Huntingdon, Fulton & Franklin R. R. Company, and secondly, a Free Railroad Law which has received the approval of Governor Geary. Of the 325 miles from Buffalo to Washington, two links of about 80 miles in length are unprovided for, to organize a company to build these 80 miles, and a lateral road of 20 miles to East Broad Top Coal basin, $900,000 must first be subscribed and $90,000 in money paid into the treasury of the Company previous to receiving letters of incorporation.

Under the special act when $100,000 shall be subscribed to the capital stock, and 10,000 paid thereon letters Patent will be issued, and if 10 miles is built within five years the Charter will beperpetual. Hence these two Railroad laws may be made to work together.

Under the special charter, the division between Cumberland Valley and the Juniata River may be commenced and merged in the Washington and Buffalo through railway. As this subject is deserving of immediate consideration it is respectfully suggested that a preparatory meeting of all those interested, who may find it convenient to attend, be held at Huntingdon on Wednesday evening, April the 15th, '68 (of which public notice will be given) when further proceedings will be considered, and notice given of time and place, where the Commissioners named in the special act of incorporation will be requested to meet for the purpose of naming times and places for opening books of subscription to the Capital stock of the Huntingdon, Fulton & Franklin Division of the Buffalo and Washington Railroad.

By order of the Committee.

Bankrupt Law.

The Scranton Republican says: There has been a question as to the time the Bankrupt law remained in force, before the additional 50 per cent. clause took effect. It was supposed by E. N. Willard, Esq., Register, that it expired on the 1st of March, and with this understanding he ceased making out applications under the act at that time, until the question was decided. The following definitely settles the question:

CIRCULAR.

Office of the Clerk of the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania.

PITTSBURG, March 4th, 1868.

SIR: I am directed by the Judge to inform you that upon the questions raised before him as to when the year mentioned in 33d section of the act expires, he has decided that it expires on the first day of June next. After that date the 50 per cent. clause becomes operative.

Very respectfully,
S. C. McCANDLESS, Clerk.

To E. N. Willard, Register.

The Crops.

A correspondent of the Pittsburgh Commercial, signing himself H. G. C., writes from Shirleysburg, this county, under date of April 9th, as follows: I have this spring traveled through Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky and Missouri, and throughout all that country the wheat crop promises a heavy yield. But it is generally conceded that the peach crop in Northern Missouri, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania is already fatally injured. It is a question of much uncertainty whether any of your readers are aware of the existence of such a county as Huntingdon, much less of its being of any importance in the political and agricultural world. Nevertheless it has a population of 30,000, and much good wheat land. The winter grain in this and adjoining counties presents a very flattering prospect, and farmers are looking forward to a heavier harvest than has been gathered for several years.

"Never Too Late."

The Cambria Freeman tells the following: It is rumored that a wedding came off in this vicinity at the unpropitious hour of midnight, a few days since, and it is further alleged that that late hour was chosen in order to avoid a "little unpleasantness," as Josh Billings would say. The young man, so report says, had promised to marry two confiding fair ones, and fixed the same day for both ceromonies, but as that arrangement could not be carried out with due regard to his own personal safety he concluded to compromise matters by marrying one of them "between two days," and hence the wedding we have noted. If the one he didn't marry should prosecute for breach of promise our readers shall hear of it.

Public Meeting.

There will be a public meeting in the Presbyterian Church of this place, on Friday evening next, 17th inst, at 7 o'clock, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. Able addresses will be delivered by Ministers of the Gospel, and Hon. John Scott and R. Milton Speer, Esq. The exercises will be interspersed with appropriate music. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend. Ushers will be present to accommodate all with seats.

G. A. R.

A meeting of Post No. 33, Grand Army of the Republic will be held at the Court House, on Friday evening next, the 17th inst., at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of reorganization. The attendance of all the members is requested. Persons wishing to become members can make application at this meeting.

The Normal School.

A second meeting of the subscribers to the fund was held in the Court House on Saturday evening. Articles of association to be presented to Court were adopted. The committee on location was continued, It is not yet certain where the building will be located. The meeting adjourned to meet again on next Saturday evening.

Notice to Teachers.

The undersigned has made an arrangement with Prof. Kuhn of Milnwood Academy, Shade Gap, to teach during the months of May and June, in that Institution. The object is to give instruction in the branches required by law to be taught in our common schools. A number of young persons desirous of teaching have signified their willingness to attend, and if there are others who desire to attend this School they can be accommodated.

I have no pecuniary interest whatever in this arrangement, and my only object is to afford all the assistance in my power to increase the number of better qualified teachers. Teachers who received a low grade of certificate this year must improve or by another year their services will be dispensed with. The State Superintendent has earnestly urged the importance of raising the standard of teacher's qualifications, and the best interests of our schools imperatively demand that this should be done.

The School opens on the first Wednesday in May, and continues five months. Terms $16 per month for Board, Tuition, and Room Rent.—Those who wish to study the Languages or the Higher Mathematics can do so in the regular classes of that Institution.

Prof. Kuhn brings high testimonials as an accomplished teacher, and has I believe given general satisfaction during the time he has taught in our county. D. F. TUSSEY,

April 2, 1868.–2t Co. Supt.

Speer's Wines

Are the pure juice of the grape, and are unexcelled by any native vintage. They contain valuable medicinal properties, and are of intrinsic worth to the invalid and the convalescent, strengthening the weak, and restoring the system to tone and vigor. Sickly persons and females should try them.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE REASON why MISH LER'S HERB BITTERS cures so many different diseases, is because it is the best remedy for a deranged stomach, or Dyspepsia, now known, and because it invigorates the entire system, strengthens the nervous fibres, elevates the standard of all the vital forces, and sustains a most healthful tone of the entire human organism. Medicine that will do this, will cure any disease, for the simple reason, that nature will do the rest.

We guarantee, that no woman or child, however pale or emaciated, can use these Bitters regularly for twenty-one days, without the return of the rosy cheeks and fair complexion characteristic of good health.

It possesses all the quickness of Peruvian Guano with permanent qualities not found in that article. 250 lbs of this Guano are found more than equal to 300 lbs of the best Superphosphates. DON'T LEAVE THE FARM.

Come, boys, I have something to tell you,
Come near, I would whisper it low—
You are thinking of leaving the homestead,
Don't be in a hurry to go.
The city has many attractions,
But think of the vices and sins,
When once in the vortex of fashion,
How soon the course downward begins.

You talk of the mines of Australia,
They're wealth in gold, without doubt,
But ah! there is gold on the farm, boys,
If only you'll shovel it out.
The mercantile life is a hazard,
The goods are first high, and then low,
Better risk the old farm a while longer,
Don't be in a hurry to go.

The great busy West has inducements,
And so has the busiest mart,
But wealth is not made in a day, boys,
Don't be in a hurry to start!
The bankers and brokers are wealthy,
They take in their thousands or so,
Ah! think of the cares and the troubles,
Don't be in a hurry to go!

The farm is the safest and surest,
The orchards are loaded to-day,
You're free as the air of the mountains,
And monarch of all you survey.
Better stay on the farm a while longer,
Though profits should come rather slow,
Remember, you've nothing to risk, boys.
Don't be in a hurry to go!

Strawberry Farms.

No fruit has given higher and more uniform profits, all things considered, than the strawberry. A greater return has occasionally been received by the sale of Delaware and other fine grapes; but a large outlay has been required in these instances to place the vineyard under way. Our readers are well acquainted with the success of John Knox, of Pittsburg, and with the fact that should not be forgotten, that his success is largely owing to the excellent and thorough culture which he gives his plantations; and to the care, system, and elaborate skill used in picking, assorting, and packing his fruit for market. We observed a few days since, in looking over a Pittsburgh paper containing a list of revenue taxpayers, that his revenue was marked for over $12,000 last year (1865). This is doing well for a plantation of 50 acres. In a recent conversation with him on the subject, he stated that $8,000 of this sum were raised from the sale of strawberries alone, and that but for the unusual and severe frost early in the season he would undoubtedly have received $15,000 for them. We have not known an instance where a strawberry plantation has been subjected to good management, including clean cultivation, and the prompt excision of runners, that has not afforded a handsome profit. Proximity to a good market is always desirable; but, so tempting and delicious are the best-grown strawberries, that they will manufacture a market in almost any place. We have had occasion to examine a number of instances the past year, where strawberries of the best varieties have been raised by the management just alluded to; and in these cases the sales have amounted to about $1,000 an acre. The cost of land, culture, superintendence, and marketing were variously from $250 to $500 per acre, leaving a net profit of $500 to $750. This net return may doubtless be relied on in all such cases for some years to come, if the business is managed with the best experience and skill and city markets are selected.

The inquiry may occur, "Why do not many rush into the business, and overdo it?" The answer is, "Many actually do enter it; but so rare is the appreciation of the best management that scarcely one in a hundred gives his plantation the attention it should receive, and as a consequence his receipts are moderate or less in amount."—Country Gentleman.

TO GROW FINE QUINCES.—Quinces are easy to raise, provided they receive a little attention. We have grown samples the first season weighing a pound each, perfectly smooth and sound.

Quince trees can stand about eight feet asunder each way, thus giving four to the square rod, or six hundred and forty to the acre. The fruit commands good prices, and probably an acre of ground could not be more profitably planted with any thing else.

Quince trees need ground culture Not by digging or plowing about them, but by mulching with chips, spreading on a coat of stable manure each fall, and by applications of liquid manure, especially urine. There should be a few quince trees near the house, to receive the urine and other slops, which will not do an equal amount of good to any other product. This treatment will ensure such fruit as will bless both the eye and the palate.

A NEW KIND OF WELL.—A new method of putting down a well which readily suggests itself to every man for cleanliness and durability, has recently been tried with success. The well is dug ordinarily until sufficient water is reached, then a reservoir of loose stone and water-lime mortar, about four feet deep, is made in the bottom, so mortared up on the sides as to prevent the possibility of any dirt or quicksand getting in. The well consists of large tile, commonly used for sewers, put down within six inches of the bottom, and the earth filled in; this leaves plenty of room for the pump, and the top wants closing up carefully. This kind of well never needs cleaning because, if properly made, no dirt can ever get into it. The cost is considerably less than that of the ordinary well, and it can be put down a great deal quicker.

LIQUID GLUE.—The following receipt, the discovery of a French chemist, is selling about the country as a secret, for various prices, from one to five dollars. It is a handy and valuable composition, as it does not gelatinize nor undergo putrefaction and fermentation and become offensive, and is always ready for use:

In a wide-mouthed bottle dissolve eight ounces of best glue in half a pint of water, by setting it in a vessel of water and heating it till dissolved. Then add slowly, constantly stirring, two and a half ounces of strong aquafortis (nitric acid.) Keep it well corked, and it will be ready for use.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebellacts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.
